Agenda and proposal of resolutions for the Extraordinary General Meeting

Free translation

1. Amendment to Article 22 of the articles of association

Proposal for resolution:

The extraordinary general meeting decides to amend Article 22 of the articles of association as follows:

“The company shall be lawfully represented in all its acts and actions, included the representation at law, by two directors acting jointly or by the managing director acting individually, also in matters that are not part of the day-to-day management, who shall not be required to furnish proof vis-à-vis third parties of a prior decision of the board of directors. Two directors may delegate the representation of the company for special and specific matters (including representation at law) to an authorized representative, even if this person is not a shareholder or director himself. ”

2. Insertion of a new Article 34 in the articles of association regarding participation to the general meeting (article 7:137 of the Companies and Associations Code) and voting remotely by electronic means (article 7:146 of the Companies and Associations Code)

Proposal for resolution:

The extraordinary general meeting decides to insert a new Article 34 to the articles of association (before the existing Article 34 which will be renumbered, as all following articles) and stating the following:

“If explicitly provided for in the convening notice to the general meeting, then the shareholders have the right to participate remotely to the general meeting by means of an electronic communication medium made available by the company. This electronic communication medium must enable the shareholder to directly, simultaneously and without interruption take note of the discussions and to exercise the right to vote regarding all points to be discussed in the meeting, as well as to participate to the deliberations and to exercise the right to ask questions.

The convening notice, or a document on the website of the company that can be consulted by the shareholders and to which the notice refers to, includes a description of the measures used by the company to identify the shareholders who participate to the meeting via an electronic communication medium, as well as the manner in which it is assessed that a shareholder participates to the general meeting via an electronic communication medium and can therefore be considered to be present.

The shareholders who wish to participate remotely to the general meeting have to fulfill the formalities provided for in the convening notice, in order to be admitted to the general meeting.”

4. Amendment of the articles of association to align with the new Companies and Associations Code

Proposal for resolution:

The extraordinary general meeting decides to adapt the articles of association to the Companies and Associations Code, as introduced by article 2 of the Law of March 23, 2019 introducing the Companies and Associations Code and containing various provisions, and in general, to align the articles of association with the relevant provisions and terminology as mentioned in the aforementioned Code and in particular:

- to include in article 2 the website of the company www.kinepolis.com/corporate and the email address companysecretary@kinepolis.com and that all communications through this address by the shareholders, holders of securities issued by the company and holders of certificates issued with the cooperation of the company are considered as valid;
- to include in article 14 that the Company will be managed by a collegial board body, called the “board of directors”;
- to include in article 18 that the Board of directors can take all decisions in writing under the conditions as described in the aforementioned Code;
- to include in article 21 that the mandate of the directors is remunerated; and
- to delete the “old” article 45.

The new proposed text of the articles of association has been published on the website of the Company (www.kinepolis.com/corporate) with the amendments as proposed under agenda points 1 to 4 marked in track changes.
